Alfredo Häberli
Product Designer / Creative Director

«You must ask the right questions
to create something outstanding.
This time it was:
What needs to be reduced?»

Alfredo's iconic designs made him famous worldwide. With his unparalleled understanding, he created the unique character of Golfyr.

Alfredo Häberli is an internationally renowned designer known for his innovative and creative approaches. His distinctive style uniquely combines functionality and aesthetics. He takes detours, and questions, and thus forges new connections. Despite tight design constraints, he was able to develop a design of recognizability from existing conventionality and the material carbon and infuse the product with a soul. The goal was an honest approach to the game of golf, which was completely questioned during the design process. Simplicity, the number of clubs, handling in playing situations... reduction was applied everywhere. From „What can be omitted?“ to 7>14. Playing with contemporary, modern, and unbridled freedom. It's a distinctiveness that Golfyr is proud of. Engineered, designed, and manufactured in Switzerland. Authenticity and simplicity. Design follows technology.
